The first regular meeting of the Woman's club was held Monday afternoon with a small but enthusiastic attendance. Mrs. Marie Frost presided. No regular program was carried out, but an earnest discussion took place regarding the purchase of lots by the organization and a committee was appointed to look further into the matter and confer with the reached to combine the regular property owners. AUTOMOBILES STALLED AT THE COUNTY LINE

Ten automobiles from New Smyrna and several from Coronado were stalled Wednesday afternoon and evening in a short detour around a drainage ditch which had been cut across the Dixie highway at the county line, six miles south of Oak Hill. W. R. Healey, president of the New Smyrna Motor club, was notified by a telephone message from M. M. Smith, president of the state automobile association, who was in Ocala, that complaints had come in about the trouble caused by this detour and lack of directing signs, and Mr. Healey was asked to see that the proper signs were displayed. Mr. Healey made a trip to the scene of the trouble late Wednesday night and found the several automobiles stalled in the attempt to negotiate the detour. He succeeded in having a temporary bridge constructed and the automobiles were helped out of their trouble.

LARGE AUTOMOBILE JUMPS INTO CANAL

BIG CAR WITH SIX PASSENGERS UNABLE TO MAKE SHARP TURN AND GOES OVER THE TEN-FOOT BANK.

Crashing through the scrub and jumping a stump two and a half feet high, a big Buick car with six people took a header straight into the south canal just west of the cement bridge on Magnolia street late Sunday afternoon. Fortunately not one of the persons in the car was injured, but the machine was badly damaged in its plunge down the high bank into the canal.

The automobile was a Daytona car passengers were also from Daytona. There were three men and three women, two of the men being in uniform and the driver in civilian clothes. The name of the driver of the car is said to be Emory, but the names of none of the others could be learned.

The car is said to have been coming from the south toward the cement bridge, which is closed on account of sinking after the recent high water. The speed of the car is said to have been so great the driver of the car was unable to negotiate the sharp turn to the left after seeing the obstruction across the road because of the unsafe bridge. Consequently, the car went straight on, crashed through the scrub, went over the high stump and headed straight down the ten-foot bank into the canal. With the exception of a bad shaking up with the sudden stop of the car, nobody was hurt and the passengers all crawled out of the car and up the bank into the road.

Later the people were taken to Daytona in a hired automobile and the car was left in the canal until Monday morning, when it was removed and taken to a local garage for repairs.

LITTLE-BUSH DRUG CO. HAS FORMAL OPENING

New Smyrna's newest drug store is now formally opened to the public, a large number of persons taking advantage of the invitation to attend the opening of the new store of the Little-Bush Drug company yesterday afternoon and evening. In fact there were so many people present after the opening hour the efficient clerks had difficulty in handling the crowd, the number far exceeding the expectations of the management. Cake was served with the ice cream for this occasion and many new sundae were in evidence. Neat menu cards at the tables gave the patrons intelligent reference to the drinks and ices served. Souvenirs of boxes of candy, powder puffs, wash cloths and chamomile skins were given away, and each purchaser received a ticket on a set of silver to be given away at 9 o'clock last night. Mrs. C. M. Perelval was the lucky person who received this prize.

The new drug store is stocked with a complete line of drugs, toilet articles and stationery, the fixtures and furnishings are all new and in good taste and interior of the store presents an attractive appearance. The persons who attended the formal opening yesterday were well pleased.

DELAND ROAD IS OPEN BRIDGES ARE REPAIRED

The road between New Smyrna and Deland, which was closed after the recent heavy rains because of damage to the bridges, is again open, all the bridges between this city and the county seat having been restored. But little damage was done to the bridges by the high water, but the approaches to several of them were washed away and County Commissioner Swoops got his men to working as quickly as possible making the necessary repairs. Workmen are now engaged in making repairs to the approaches to bridges on the road to the Osteen ferry and will have these repairs completed in a few days. The greatest damage done on this road was at the bridge across Deep creek.

EVA MAE ROGERO DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

General sorrow was caused in New Smyrna by the announcement of the death of Eva Mae Rogero, which occurred in St. Augustine last Friday afternoon after an illness of less than a week, following an operation. The deceased was 19 years old and was well known in this city, where she resided with her parents for a number of years and attended the public schools. Several years ago the family moved to St. Augustine and since that time Eva Mae has been a frequent visitor to friends in this city.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Rogero, one brother, Elmo, and three sisters, Alma, Wilma and Augusta.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the Cathedral with a high requiem mass, and the church was crowded with sorrowing friends. The choir, which was composed of Mesdames N. Mier, T. V. Pomar and E. Fitzgerald and Norman Leonardi, feelingly sang several selections, among them being "Face to Face," a favorite of the deceased. William Thompson, formerly of this city, was one of the active pallbearers and his sister, Louise Thompson, was one of the honorary pallbearers. A touching sermon and beautiful tribute was delivered by Father Barry and Father Mulleady also assisted in the services. Interment was in the San Lorenzo cemetery and the funeral cortege was one of the largest ever seen in St. Augustine. A number of friends from New Smyrna attended the funeral.

The Camp Fire Girls of New Smyrna, of which Eva Mae was a member, sent a beautiful standing floral piece in the colors of the organization, as their token of love and respect. There were many other floral offerings from her hosts of friends.

A. B. Cannady, pastor of the Baptist church.

Both couples are well known in this city. Mr. Stevens is employed in the R. V. Douglas store and Mr. Hardy is a member of the railroad shop force. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are spending their honeymoon at home, and Mr. and Mrs. Hardy took a wedding trip to Jacksonville and High Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are making their home with Mrs. Mason on Live Oak street, and Mr. and Mrs. Hardy, on their return, will have apartments at Sam Colee's. The wedding ceremony was witnessed by only members of the immediate families.

The refreshments were red-filled heart sandwiches and coffee.

NEWS OF WEDDING IS SURPRISE HERE

W. C. SILVERS IS QUIETLY MARRIED TO MRS. MILDRED MCCORKLE OF ORLANDO AT KISSIMMEE.

The following from the Kissimmee Gazette will be of interest to the friends of the contracting parties in New Smyrna:

Shrewdness of man and intuition of woman are futile when they elect to indulge in the artful designs of Cupid and then plunge into matrimony, no matter how carefully planned, and expect to keep it a secret.

Such is the result of a marriage in Kissimmee about 11 o'clock Wednesday night, the contracting parties being William C. Silvers of New Smyrna and Mrs. Mildred M. McCorkle of Orlando.

The groom-to-be with his intended bride arrived in Kissimmee by auto. They were furnished with a marriage license secured in the Orlando county courthouse, from the official in charge of such matters there.

The few persons about Broadway at that hour became interested in the movements of Mr. Silvers, especially so when he entered a well known business establishment and inquired where a notary could be found. It so happened that H. M. Breaker was in a nearby territorial parlor and had just descended from a chair, looking most appropriately to perform a marriage ceremony.

Notary Public Breaker was approached by Mr. Silvers upon the subject of joining the couple in the holy bonds of wedlock and he gallantly agreed to do so.

The mysterious something in the air traveled about in a few moments, the most entranced of the office of Mr. Breaker was the scene of a gathering of Kissimmeeites, who were none the less members, who will not see the resemblance appeared to know the couple and they requested that the marriage be kept quiet. But a trip to the courthouse in Orlando when accidentally taking in the fair there revealed the names of the couple who sought quiet and secrecy in the city of Kissimmee.

Couple Quietly Married

George Beelman, manager for the Western Union in this city, and Mrs. Edith Thompson were quietly married Tuesday evening by Rev. W. B. Hays, rector of Grace Episcopal church. Mr. and Mrs. Beelman have taken the Maherson cottage on Faulkner street, where they will reside.

A PARTY FOR JIM

By MATTIE A RAMSAY

(© 1920 by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

He had been chuckling to himself all day For that morning he had leased an apartment and had a big surprise for Dorothy They had been married in May, upon his return from France and on account of the house shortage they had been obliged to live in a room and take their meals out

He was in the gayest of spirits Dorothy, who under the circumstances had retained her position as home ahead of him She was coming her hair He bent over to kiss her and demolished her collure She laughed and kissed his cheek and began combing again

Then with a boyish eagerness he told her of the apartment, how his sister had heard of it, how happy they would be And what a stroke of wisdom that had been when they had bought their furniture at the reduced summer rates All day his thoughts had evoked such cozy pictures, and he had spoken with such enthusiasm that at first he wasn't conscious of Dorothy's lack of spontaneous approval

His cheeriness vanished He subjected her to a sharp scrutiny "It sounds nice," she returned smiling, "and we can talk about it after dinner Come, I'm famished"

Her tone had been a trifle careless and gossamer Still, he told himself that he must not be too exacting He admitted that it was rather high handed of him to have taken the whole responsibility He should have consulted her. Going back from the restaurant, he apologized, but the atmosphere did not clear

"Let's have it all straight out, Dorothy," he said quietly, once more in their room

He fixed his eyes upon her with an appeal that stirred her She knew of his longing for a home; and with what gusto he talked of the fine house warning they would have, if they only had a little flat Two years ago, when he and his brother had gone across, his home had been broken up

That she was not as keen about a home as Jim had never dawned upon Dorothy But now that she was facing such a possibility, she was alarmed at her disinterestedness Though she was sorry to disappoint him, she must speak the truth; though she smiled as she talked, he was aware of the sadness that tinged her reply

She didn't want to give up her position Today she had a raise of $5, now $35 a week And she didn't have the strength nor the inclination, after working all day, to putter around the house at night Living was too high to give up $35 How could they meet expenses on $40 a week?

"You silly boy," she said softly, "you have no idea what clothes cost today" She opened a box and displayed a new suit "That cost me $100"

Jim flushed red Her money; not his, he thought And so all his beautiful dreams collapsed The reference to her raise and to his meager salary hurt him She knew nothing of his scheming to earn extra and of his fine figuring; for he could show in black and white that it cost very little more to have a little flat As the days went by, he felt lonely and depressed to an extent that Dorothy didn't realize

They never referred to that subject again Jim grew sensitive about money He never told her of his raise

One day Dorothy renewed her proposal of some time previous, which Jim had indignantly repudiated, that she be allowed to pay her share, and it was accepted with such alacrity that Dorothy was startled Even Jim was surprised at himself

November came One evening Dorothy went over to see her friend Jennie, who noticed at once a troubled, listless look in Dorothy's face Perhaps she was beginning to realize that she was losing something worth far more than $35

Tears filled Dorothy's eyes Then she confessed that she had been house-hunting and was thoroughly disheartened She wanted to begin where she and Jim had started, when they used to talk over all the happenings of the day Now they were almost strangers

Jennie had been begged to help and she did Through her were located four rooms in modern apartments Dorothy was jubilant With gratitude, she assented and acted upon Jennie's suggestion that she take Jim's mother and sister into her confidence, for Jennie was anxious to see that breach spanned

The next week Dorothy worked hard and late Everything was in its place Jennie thought she had never seen such a homelike apartment She loved the look of the rooms, the good taste, and especially the living room in the soft glow of that handsome lamp

It was three nights later and Jim as he supposed with Bill, his brother, were coming to make a call Dorothy was radiant and sweet She knew that nothing mattered so long as Jim loved her and they were together

Jennie joined his mother and sister in the kitchen, who were rejoicing over the attractive party which had been prepared They thrilled when the bell rang and the door opened A moment's silence Then they heard Jim saying in the dearest voice "Dorothy, Dorothy" Then Jennie came in, closing the kitchen door behind her, and they all grinned

"But I wanted to see that

Good Old Duden Coming Back

History moves in cycles So the cornucopine It's coming back to popularity One finds it on the street in the workshop behind the polished doors of the bank directors' rooms It is an old friend, returning in its old dress

The reason? Just because perhaps increased—inflated prices of cigars, some charge—have driven thousands of cigar smokers back to the pipe And pipe smokers know that there is none so sweet as the Missouri meerschaum

It for decades, has been the fisherman's standby and the hunter's, and the outdoor man's in general The brier, the meerschaum and pipes of various clays and woods have their following But any of these devotees are glad, once in a while, to pick up one of Mark Twain's favorite bows, load her up to the top and pull for the shore

The cornucopine is cheap in price, but is worthy a potentate's pocket, when it comes to solid comfort Watch the cornucopine go by.—Chicago Post.

No regular program was carried out, but an earnest discussion took place regarding the purchase of lots by the organization and a committee was appointed to look further into the matter and confer with the reached to combine the regular property owners. A decision was weekly meetings and the silver tea, at least for the next time, which will be Monday, March 1. At this meeting Dr. Amos Butler, who is a recognized authority in America on birds, will talk to the ladies on this subject. Following his talk the hostesses of the silver tea, which had been scheduled for the Saturday previous, will take charge and a social will close the meeting. Mesdames S. M. Jones, E. D. Pritchard, John Northrop, and F. J. Russell are the hostesses in charge of the tea.

AUTOMOBILES STALLED AT THE COUNTY LINE

Ten automobiles from New Smyrna and several from Coronado were stalled Wednesday afternoon and evening in a short detour around a drainage ditch which had been cut across the Dixie highway at the county line, six miles south of Oak Hill. W. R. Healey, president of the New Smyrna Motor club, was notified by a telephone message from M. M. Smith, president of the state automobile association, who was in Ocala, that complaints had come in about the trouble caused by this detour and lack of directing signs, and Mr. Healey was asked to see that the proper signs were displayed. Mr. Healey made a trip to the scene of the trouble late Wednesday night and found the several automobiles stalled in the attempt to negotiate the detour. He succeeded in having a temporary bridge constructed and the automobiles were helped out of their trouble.

LARGE AUTOMOBILE JUMPS INTO CANAL

BIG CAR WITH SIX PASSENGERS UNABLE TO MAKE SHARP TURN AND GOES OVER THE TEN-FOOT BANK.

Crashing through the scrub and jumping a stump two and a half feet high, a big Buick car with six people took a header straight into the south canal just west of the cement bridge on Magnolia street late Sunday afternoon. Fortunately not one of the persons in the car was injured, but the machine was badly damaged in its plunge down the high bank into the canal.

The automobile was a Daytona car passengers were also from Daytona. There were three men and three women, two of the men being in uniform and the driver in civilian clothes. The name of the driver of the car is said to be Emory, but the names of none of the others could be learned.

The car is said to have been coming from the south toward the cement bridge, which is closed on account of sinking after the recent high water. The speed of the car is said to have been so great the driver of the car was unable to negotiate the sharp turn to the left after seeing the obstruction across the road because of the unsafe bridge. Consequently, the car went straight on, crashed through the scrub, went over the high stump and headed straight down the ten-foot bank into the canal. With the exception of a bad shaking up with the sudden stop of the car, nobody was hurt and the passengers all crawled out of the car and up the bank into the road.

Later the people were taken to Daytona in a hired automobile and the car was left in the canal until Monday morning, when it was removed and taken to a local garage for repairs.

LITTLE-BUSH DRUG CO. HAS FORMAL OPENING

New Smyrna's newest drug store is now formally opened to the public, a large number of persons taking advantage of the invitation to attend the opening of the new store of the Little-Bush Drug company yesterday afternoon and evening. In fact there were so many people present after the opening hour the efficient clerks had difficulty in handling the crowd, the number far exceeding the expectations of the management. Cake was served with the ice cream for this occasion and many new sundae were in evidence. Neat menu cards at the tables gave the patrons intelligent reference to the drinks and ice served. Souvenirs of boxes of candy, powder puffs, wash cloths and chamomile skins were given away, and each purchaser received a ticket on a set of silver to be given away at 9 o'clock last night. Mrs. C. M. Percival was the lucky person who received this prize.

The new drug store is stocked with a complete line of drugs, toilet articles and stationery, the fixtures and furnishings are all new and in good taste and interior of the store presents an attractive appearance. The persons who attended the formal opening yesterday were well pleased.

DELAND ROAD IS OPEN BRIDGES ARE REPAIRED

The road between New Smyrna and Deland, which was closed after the recent heavy rains because of damage to the bridges, is again open, all the bridges between this city and the county seat having been restored. But little damage was done to the bridges by the high water, but the approaches to several of them were washed away and County Commissioner Swoope got his men to working as quickly as possible making the necessary repairs. Workmen are now engaged in making repairs to the approaches to bridges on the road to the Osteen ferry and will have these repairs completed in a few days. The greatest damage done on this road was at the bridge across Deep creek.

EVA MAE ROGERO DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

General sorrow was caused in New Smyrna by the announcement of the death of Eva Mae Rogero, which occurred in St. Augustine last Friday afternoon after an illness of less than a week following an operation. The deceased was 19 years old and was well known in this city, where she resided with her parents for a number of years and attended the public schools. Several years ago the family moved to St. Augustine and since that time Eva Mae has been a frequent visitor to friends in this city.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Rogero, one brother, Elmo, and three sisters, Alma, Wilma and Elaine.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the Cathedral with a high requiem mass, and the church was crowded with sorrowing friends. The choir, which was composed of Mesdames N. Mier, T. V. Pomar and E. Fitzgerald and Norman Leonardi, feelingly sang several selections, among them being "Face to Face," a favorite of the deceased. William Thompson, formerly of this city, was one of the active pallbearers and his sister, Louise Thompson, was one of the honorary pallbearers. A touching sermon and beautiful tribute was delivered by Father Barry and Father Mulleday also assisted in the services. Interment was in the San Lorenzo cemetery and the funeral cortege was one of the largest ever seen in St. Augustine. A number of friends from New Smyrna attended the funeral.

The Camp Fire Girls of New Smyrna, of which Eva Mae was a member, sent a beautiful standing floral piece in the colors of the organization, as their token of love and respect. There were many other floral offerings from her hosts of friends.

TWO COUPLES WED SUNDAY AFTERNOON

A double wedding of interest to many people in this city and vicinity was solemnized Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of E. S. Taylor on Live Oak street, when his daughter, Mary Sally Taylor and Herman Joshua Stevens and Della Chloe Ridge and Oliver Lee Hardy were united in marriage, the double ceremony being performed by Rev. A. B. Cannady, pastor of the Baptist church.

Both couples are well known in this city. Mr. Stevens is employed in the R. V. Douglas store and Mr. Hardy is a member of the railroad shop force. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are spending their honeymoon at home, and Mr. and Mrs. Hardy took a wedding trip to Jacksonville and High Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens are making their home with Mrs. Mason on Live Oak street, and Mr. and Mrs. Hardy, on their return, will have apartments at Sam Cole's. The wedding ceremony was witnessed by only members of the immediate families.

Among those from this city who went to Daytona Wednesday to travel the hot sands into the Order of the Mystic Shrine during the afternoon were George C. Beck, Thos. W. Bush, Charles Ebenbeck, Robert L. Montague, John K. Rowley, Lee M. Waite and Elston M. Webster. Mrs. Ebenbeck and Mrs. Montague accompanied their husbands and the ladies were entertained during the afternoon at the Desland hotel with music by famous soloists and the Morocco Temple band. The new Shriners were entertained in the evening at a banquet at the Ridgewood hotel, where 485 nobles were seated at a nine-course dinner.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. L. McAuley. An interesting program has been arranged in which the children of the Loyal Temperance Legion will take part. They will have a song and exercise.

COAST PASTORS HOLD FELLOWSHIP MEETING

MINISTERS OF THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH HOLD SESSION HERE TO DISCUSS THE EASTER TOPICS.

New Smyrna had the honor of entertaining the Congregational pastors of the East Coast at a fellowship meeting held in the local Congregational church last Monday evening and Tuesday. In addition to the East Coast pastors the meeting was attended by State Superintendent G. B. Waldron of Winter Park and District Superintendent G. R. Merrill of Atlanta.

The ministers present included the Rev. Messrs. Day of Jacksonville, Lewis of Daytona, Fithian of Port Orange, Enlow of Moore Haven, Spencer of Mt. Dora, Sewell of Lake Helen, Howland of Pomona, Gordon of Boston, Mass., Cristy of New Smyrna, and A. H. Hazeltine of Miami and E. S. Bureleigh of Tavares. Rev. W. S. Gray of the Trinity Methodist church was an interested listener at two of the sessions.

The main topic was the "Fellowship of Prayer," which was discussed in its various phases by Rev. C. E. Enlow and this was followed by the views and experiences of the others.

Rev. W. L. Lewis spoke on "The Spiritual Needs of the Church," and was followed by Rev. J. L. Sewell and Mrs. Howland.

The devotional services at the several sessions were led by Revs. Enlow, Spencer and Howland.

The purpose of the meeting was a preparation for the six weeks preceding Easter, during which the churches are to be holding with the Congregational churches of the nation in observing the topics and exercises selected for each day of that period.

LARGE NUMBER ENJOYS WOMAN'S CLUB TEA

Saturday afternoon the first silver tea of the Woman's club for this season, was held in the club room from 3 to 5 o'clock. Mrs. F. M. Allen, Mrs. E. A. Latham, Mrs. W. C. A large gathering, numbering between 60 and 80, enjoyed the affair, which featured as entertainment Miss Jean Chapman, the sweet Canadian singer, who sang a slave song and "Dawn," with Mrs. Kirby Chilton as her accompanist; Mrs. Nellie Nason of Worcester, Mass., who gave three of her delightfully humorous monologues; and Miss Edith Newell, who rendered as a piano solo "Waltz Caprice" by Newland.

The room was decorated in "valentine" colors, four scarlet heart valentines with amusing mottoes forming the flat decorations on the white clothed tables, with a vase of red roses in the center and flame vine festooning the windows, screens and chandeliers, and silver and roses decorating the piano. The refreshments were red-filled heart sandwiches and coffee.

Another tea will be given Monday, March 1, the hostesses being Mesdames Northrop, S. M. Jones, Pritchard and Russell.

Failing to get replies to messages sent asking for more definite information, Mrs. Dohn left Wednesday night for Detroit. No further information had been received up to the time of the closing of the telegraph office last night.

NEWS OF WEDDING IS SURPRISE HERE

W. C. SILVERS IS QUIETLY MARRIED TO MRS. MILDRED MCCORMICK OF ORLANDO AT KISSIMMEE.

The following from the Kissimmee Gazette will be of interest to the friends of the contracting parties in New Smyrna:

Shrewdness of man and intuition of woman are futile when they elect to indulge in the artful designs of Cupid and then plunge into matrimony, no matter how carefully planned, and expect to keep it a secret.

Such is the result of a marriage in Kissimmee about 11 o'clock Wednesday night, the contracting parties being William C. Silvers of New Smyrna and Mrs. Mildred M. McCormick of Orlando.

The groom-to-be with his intended bride arrived in Kissimmee by auto. They were fortified with a marriage license secured in the Orlando county courthouse, from the official in charge of such matters there.

The few persons about Broadway at that hour became interested in the movements of Mr. Silvers, especially so when he entered a well known business establishment and inquired where a notary could be found. It so happened that H. M. Breaker was in a nearby tuxedoed taylor and had just descended from a chair, looking most appropriately to perform a marriage ceremony.

Notary Public Breaker was approached by Mr. Silvers upon the subject of marrying the couple in the holy bonds of wedlock and he gallantly agreed to do so.

The mysterious something in the air traveled about in a few moments, the front entrance of the office of Mr. Breaker was the scene of a gathering of Kissimmee couples, who were waiting for the ceremony. No one in this assemblage appeared to know the couple and they requested that the marriage be kept quiet. But a trip to the courthouse in Orlando when accidentally taking in the fair there revealed the names of the couple who sought quiet and secrecy in the city of Kissimmee.

Couple Quietly Married

George Beelman, manager for the Western Union in this city, and Mrs. Edith Thompson were quietly married Tuesday evening by Rev. W. B. Hays, rector of Grace Episcopal church. Mr. and Mrs. Beelman have taken the Bohannon cottage on Faulkner street, where they will reside.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY BAZAAR AT CORONADO

The Washington's birthday bazaar, which is an annual event at the Coronado club at Coronado, will be held this year Saturday, February 21st. It has come to be a social occasion for the entire surrounding country, being held at the same time each year, and people from the nearby towns make a reunion day of it, coming for their dinners and spending the day, visiting with friends and enjoying the many features of the bazaar. The women of the club auxiliary, which gives the bazaar, have always laid stress on the social features of the affair and successfully so, as it carries out each year the good fellowship which has marked the inception and life of the club itself.

Because of other attractions in the city this evening, the usual Friday night dancing party of the New Smyrna band has been postponed and there will be no dance tonight. The usual dancing party will be given next Friday night and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

The valentine party given by the T. D.'s. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Newell Friday night provided much pleasure to the guests. The decorations were in the conventional valentine colors of red and white, with kewpie cupids hanging by scarlet sashes from the chandeliers, and hearts, hearts everywhere, including each guest having in his or her possession one perfectly good one. Red sherbet and heart shaped cookies formed the refreshments. Fortunes were told in appropriate manner, guessing contests were held and a game of progressive conversation, in which such subjects as "love," "letters" and "leap year" were discussed. Miss Bytha Remington took the ladies' prize and E. M. Webster the prize for gentlemen. Mr. Cupp won the prize in the "Hunt for Hearts," Miss Calla Ferguson and Mr. Beck were the winners in the "Flower Contest." The members of the club will enjoy Hettie Jane Dunaway's reading of "Daddy Long Legs" at the public school auditorium tonight.

Under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Lulu Loveland Shephard, known as the "Silver-tongued Orator of the Rocky Mountains," will speak here Wednesday evening, February 25th, at 8 p. m. in Trinity M. E. church. Mrs. Shepherd is conducting a nation-wide campaign to acquaint the American people with the iniquitous alliance between the Mormon church leaders and the liquor traffic. She is regarded as one of the most eloquent women in America. Few public speakers among American women are better known or more popular than she. She has spoken in practically every state in the Union to large and enthusiastic audiences and for years has been a national lecturer for the W. C. T. U., a chautauqua speaker, club woman and D. A. R.

Brown, a North side resident, rented a garage from Green, who also owned a car. In the course of time the two discussed quite freely the various merits of their two cars.

Truth to tell, Green's car was a trifle hard to start in the cooler months. But Brown often told Green how easily his car would start when the cool weather came on. "Yes, I never had the least bit of trouble last winter," he said. "Just walked into the garage and stepped on the starter and away she started. My neighbor always had to humor his car with priming it, pouring hot water on the carburetor and everything else."

"Well," said the owner of the garage, "the last man who kept his car in our garage had quite a little trouble in starting in cold weather, and so I made a reduction of $2 a month because the garage was not heated, but I guess it won't be necessary to make that for you!"—Indianapolis News.

I was invited to dinner at the house of some friends, where I met a number who were strangers to me. The party was congenial, and I was pleased with my new acquaintances. When we left I volunteered to take several women home in my automobile. We had gone but a short distance when my gasoline supply gave out. At a garage near by I discovered that I did not have the price of a single gallon of gasoline. Returning, I informed the party, regretfully, that the man who had the key to the gasoline pump would not return for an hour, and that, instead of waiting, it probably would be better for them to seek the street cars, which they did.—Exchange.

Evan D. Roberts of Scranton, Pa., when he was overseas in Uncle Sam's air service, went to a town in England one evening to find the home of his grandmother. Passing by a house he saw through the window his father's picture hanging on the wall, and so found the grandmother whom he had never seen.

"The second-story man is going out of business."
 "What do you mean?"
 "Since the stocking-up process, he makes now for the cellar."

A PARTY FOR JIM

By MATTIE A RAMSAY

(Copyright 1920 by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

He had been chafing to himself all day For that morning he had leased an apartment and had a big surprise for Dorothy They had been married in May, upon his return from France and on account of the house shortage they had been obliged to live in a room and take their meals out

He was in the gayest of spirits Dorothy, who under the circumstances had retained her position was home ahead of him She was combing her hair He bent over to kiss her and demoshed her coiffure She laughed and kissed his cheek and began combing again

Then with a boyish eagerness he told her of the apartment, how his sister had heard of it, how happy they would be And what a stroke of wisdom that had been when they had bought their furniture at the reduced summer rates All day his thoughts had evoked such cozy pictures, and he had spoken with such enthusiasm that at first he wasn't conscious of Dorothy's lack of spontaneous approval

His cheeriness vanished He subjected her to a sharp scrutiny "It sounds nice," she returned smiling, "and we can talk about it after dinner Come; I'm famished"

Her tone had been a trifle careless and noncommittal Still, he told himself that he must not be too exacting He admitted that it was rather high handed of him to have taken the whole responsibility He should have consulted her Going back from the restaurant, he apologized, but the atmosphere did not clear

"Let's have it all straight out, Dorothy," he said quietly, once more in their room

He fixed his eyes upon her with an appeal that stirred her She knew of his longing for a home; and with what gusto he talked of the fine house warming they would have, if they only had a little flat Two years ago, when he and his brother had gone across, his home had been broken up

That she was not as keen about a home as Jim had never dawned upon Dorothy But now that she was facing such a possibility, she was alarmed at her disinterestedness Though she was sorry to disappoint him, she must speak the truth; though she smiled as she talked, he was aware of the sadness that tinged her reply

She didn't want to give up her position Today she had a raise of $5, now $35 a week And she didn't have the strength nor the inclination, after working all day, to putter around the house at night Living was too high to give up $35 How could they meet expenses on $40 a week?

"You silly boy," she said softly, "you have no idea what clothes cost today" She opened a box and displayed a new suit "That cost me $100"

Jim flushed red Her money; not his, he thought And so all his beautiful dreams collapsed The reference to her raise and to his meager salary hurt him She knew nothing of his scheming to earn extra and of his fine figuring; for he could show in black and white that it cost very little more to have a little flat As the days went by, he felt lonely and depressed to an extent that Dorothy didn't realize

They never referred to that subject again Jim grew sensitive about money He never told her of his raise One day Dorothy renewed her proposal of some time previous, which Jim had indignantly repudiated, that she be allowed to pay her share, and it was accepted with such alacrity that Dorothy was startled Even Jim was surprised at himself

November came One evening Dorothy went over to see her friend Jennie, who noticed at once a troubled, listless look in Dorothy's face Perhaps she was beginning to realize that she was losing something worth far more than $35

Tears filled Dorothy's eyes Then she confessed that she had been house-hunting and was thoroughly disheartened She wanted to begin where she and Jim had started, when they used to talk over all the happenings of the day Now they were almost strangers

Jennie had been begged to help and she did Through her were located four rooms in modern apartments Dorothy was jubilant With gratitude, she assented and acted upon Jennie's suggestion that she take Jim's mother and sister into her confidence, for Jennie was anxious to see that breach spanned

The next week Dorothy worked hard and late Everything was in its place Jennie thought she had never seen such a homelike apartment She loved the look of the rooms, the good taste, and especially the living room in the soft glow of that handsome lamp

It was three nights later and Jim as he supposed with Bill, his brother, were coming to make a call Dorothy was radiant and sweet She knew that nothing mattered so long as Jim loved her and they were together

Jennie joined his mother and sister in the kitchen, who were rejoicing over the attractive party which had been prepared They thrilled when the bell rang and the door opened A moment's silence Then they heard Jim saying in the dearest voice "Dorothy, Dorothy!" Then Bill came in, closing the kitchen door and smiling, and they all grinned

"Bill wanted to see that Dorothy was all right," he said

A Boston physician has invented a megaphone which is constructed on the theory that the original horn—the ram's horn—was and still is technically correct for sound reproduction His megaphone is curved instead of the straight funnel-like shape of most other instruments, and one of the most interesting and useful features about it is the ability to use it without having to interfere with one's vision.

Good Old Duden Coming Back

History moves in cycles So the cornucopia of It's coming back to popularity One finds it on the street in the workshop behind the polished doors of the bank directors' rooms It is an old friend, returning in its old dress

The reason? Just because perhaps increased-inflated prices of cigars, some charge—have driven thousands of cigar smokers back to the pipe And pipe smokers know that there is none so sweet as the Missouri meerschaum

It for decades, has been the fisherman's standby and the hunter's, and the outdoor man's in general The briar, the meerschaum and pipes of various clays and woods have their following But any of these devotees are glad, once in a while, to pick up one of Mark Twain's favorite bows, load her up to the top and pull for the shore

The cornucopia pipe is cheap in price, but a worthy a potentate's pocket, when it comes to solid comfort Watch the cornucopia pipes go by.—Chicago Post.
